9 – 10:30 am: The Self-Employed Singer Kentucky Opera Artistic Director Ian Derrer discusses the details of setting up a career as a self-employed singer and the support one should find in accountants, financial planners, managers, travel agents, etc.	9 – 11 am Psycho-physical Acting Opera director Chuck Hudson leads this extremely active master class. While observers are welcome, we need participants for this is an interactive class. Dress as you would for a movement class: no dress clothes, boots, or open-toed shoes of any kind: please wear SNEAKERS. Please also have your hair attached back away from your face.	9 – 10:30 am – X-Training Classical Singers Mary Saunders Barton approaches voice teaching for music theater as cross training not “crossover,” closing the distance between music theater and opera. Teaching singers to manage their lower break differently early in their training may have huge implications later in life. This is an interactive workshop: be prepared to sing solo or in a group.
10:30 – 10:45 am – Refreshment Break	11– 11:15 am – Refreshment Break	10:30 – 10:45 am – Refreshment Break –
10:45 am – 12:45 pm: Successful Auditions This workshop empowers the career-bound singer to perform professional and enjoyable auditions. Collaborative pianist and coach Arlene Shrut covers topics such as the "audition package," background research, the audition notebook, collaborating with the pianist, and the “Before/During/After” checklist. Included: singers' demonstrations and Q &amp; A.	11:15 am – 12:45 pm: Feedback Session Mikey Nagy, an agent with clients on Broadway, tours, and regional theatres, gives critiques in this feedback session. He addresses “type,” matching material with type, and shares acting/vocal notes with participants. Each performer will offer two contrasting cuts: have music theater repertoire book with you for Mikey’s reference.	10:45 am – 12:30 pm: Master Class with composer Ricky Ian Gordon Renowned composer Ricky Ian Gordon, a leading writer of vocal music that spans art song, opera, and music theater, leads the second of two master classes for opera and music theater singers.
12:45 – 2:15 pm – Lunch on your own	12:45 – 2:15 pm – Lunch on your own	12:30 – 2 pm – Lunch on your own

2:15 – 4 pm – Agent Feedback Class Kristin Cowdin of Sempre Artists offers feedback in mock auditions. Singers should plan to sing at least one aria and bring head shots and resumes. This session will include a Q&amp;A on the business of singing.	2:15 – 3:45 pm – Cultural Literacy for the Music Theater Performer Today's singers are expected to not only be well-trained and healthy, but versatile and informed. This talk with casting director Michael Cassara will examine the ways in which can you help your students navigate the changing terrain and begin (or continue) their professional careers with keen awareness of our rich cultural heritage and its relevance on the current professional landscape.	2 – 4 pm – Master Class with composer Ricky Ian Gordon Renowned composer Ricky Ian Gordon, a leading writer of vocal music that spans art song, opera, and music theater, leads the second of two master classes for opera and music theater singers.
