

Be part of a research study about online voice lessons!

Are you above 18 years of age?

Do you make at least a portion of your income by teaching private voice lessons?

If you answered YES to these questions, you are eligible to participate in this study.

When the global COVID-19 pandemic required nearly all forms of education to move to remote instruction, thousands of voice teachers like you were forced to transition their lessons to video conferencing technology. Your participation in this survey will help researchers at NYU learn about the ways that your teaching changed and how voice teachers may be able to prepare for the future.

This research consists of one survey, which should take about 15-20 minutes to complete. Your participation in this research is completely voluntary, and you may skip any questions if you do not wish to answer. The consent form with more information is on the first page of the survey.
